DEALSTAFORD Geological History

By

JOHN H. DEALSTAFORD

The geological history of Dealstaford is a subject of great interest to the public, and one which has of late years attracted much of the attention of the scientific world. The history of the earth is a story of changes, and the study of its history is a study of the changes which have taken place since the first appearance of life on the earth. The study of the geological history of Dealstaford is a study of the changes which have taken place since the first appearance of life on the earth.

EXPLANATION OF COLORS IN STAFFORD COAT-OF-ARMS

Colors in coat of arms represent the personal characteristics of the bearer and are granted only as he merits them.

Silver: sincerity and peace

Red: courage and magnanimity

Blue: loyalty and truth

Black: (the fur lining of royal robes): nobility and constancy

Gold: generosity and elevation of mind

Purple: royalty

WHY YOU HAVE A FAMILY NAME AND WHAT IT MEANS TO YOU

Primitive personal names doubtless originated soon after the invention of spoken language, although the date of the first use is lost in the darkness of ages preceding recorded history. For thousands of years thereafter, first or given names were the only designations that men and women bore; and in the dawn of historic times, when the world was less crowded than it is today and every man knew his neighbor, only one title of address was necessary. Only gradually, with the passing centuries and the increasing complexity of civilized society, did a need arise for more specific designations. While the roots of our system of family names may be traced back to early civilized times, actually the hereditary surname as we know it today is a comparatively recent development in human history, dating from a time scarcely earlier than nine hundred years ago.

A surname is a name added to a baptismal or Christian name for the purposes of making it more specific and of indicating family relationship or descent. Classified according to origin, most surnames fall into four general categories: (1) those formed from the given name of the sire; (2) those arising from bodily or personal characteristics; (3) those derived from locality or place of residence; and (4) those derived from occupation. It is easier to understand the story of the development of our institution of surnames if these classifications are borne in mind.

As early as biblical times, certain distinguishing appellations were occasionally employed in addition to the given name, as for instance, Joshua the son of Nun, Simon the son of Jonas, Judas of Gallilee, and Simon the Zealot. In ancient Greece, daughters were scrupulously named after their fathers, as Chryseis, the daughter of Chryses; and sons' names were usually an enlarged form of the father's, as Hieronymus, son of Hiero. The Romans, with the rise of their civilization, felt the need for some hereditary title; and to meet this need they invented a complex system whereby every patrician traced his descent by taking several names. None of these however, exactly corresponded to surnames as we know them, for the "clan name", though hereditary, was given also to slaves and other dependents. Excellent as this system was, it proved to be but a temporary innovation, for the overthrow of the Western Empire by barbarian invaders brought about its end and a reversion to the primitive custom of a single name.

The ancient Scandinavians and for the most part the Germans had only individual names, and there were no family names, strictly speaking, among the Celts. But as family and tribal groups grew in size, individual names proved inadequate and the need for supplementary designations began to be felt. Among the first employed were such terms as "the Strong", "the Hardy", "the Stern", "the Dreadful-in-battle", and the nations of northern Europe soon adopted the practice of adding the father's name to the sons, as Oscar son of Ossian, Oscar son of Carnuth, and Dermic son of Duthno.

True surnames, in the sense of hereditary designations, date in England from about the year 1000. Largely, they were introduced from Normandy, although there are interesting records of Saxon surnames prior to the Norman Conquest. Perhaps the oldest known surname in England is that borne by Hwita Hatte, a keeper of bees, whose daughter was Tate Hatte. During the reign of Edward the Confessor (1042-1066), there were Saxon tenants in Suffolk bearing such names as Suert Magno, Stigand Soror, Siuward Rufus, and Leuric Hobbesune (Hobson); and the Domesday record of 1085-1086, which exhibits some curious combinations of Saxon forenames with Norman family names, shows surnames in still more general use.

By the end of the twelfth century, hereditary names had become common in England. But even by 1465 they were not universal. During the reign of Edward V a law was passed to compel certain Irish outlaws to adopt surnames: "They shall take unto them a Surname, either of some Town, or some Colour, as Blacke or Brown, or some Art or Science, as Smyth or Carpenter, or some Office, as Cooke or Butler." And as late as the beginning of the nineteenth century, a somewhat similar decree compelled Jews in Germany and Austria to add a German surname to the single names which they had previously used.

As stated above, family names may be divided into four general classes according to their origin. One of the largest of these classes is that comprising surnames derived from the given name of the father of those who first bore the surname. Such names were formed by means of an added prefix or suffix denoting either "son of" or a diminutive. English names terminating in son, ing, and kin (from the Norse sonr, ingr, kyn) are of this type, as are also the hosts of names prefixed with the Gaelic Mac, the Norman Fitz, the Welsh ap, and the Irish O' (literally "a descendant of"). Thus John's sons became Johnsons; William's sons, Williamsons or Wilsons; Richard's sons Richardsons or Richardses (the final "s" of "Richard" being a contraction of "son"); Neill's sons, MacNeills; Herbert's sons, FitzHerberts; Thomas' sons, ap Thomases (ap has been dropped from many names of which it was formerly a part); and Reilly's sons, O'Reillys. Names of this type are common not only in the British Isles, but also in Germany, the Netherlands, the Scandinavian countries, and throughout many other parts of the world.

Another class of surnames, those arising from some bodily or personal characteristic of their first bearer, apparently grew out of what were in the first instance nicknames. Thus Peter the strong became Peter Strong, Roger of small stature became Roger Little or Roger Small, and black-haired William or blond Alfred became William Black or Alfred White. From among the many names of this type, only a few need be mentioned: Long, Hardy, Wise, Gladman, Lover, Youngman, and Legrand. Such names as Fox and Wolfe perhaps also belong in this group, although some writers suggest that they may be of an ancient totemistic origin instead.

A third class of family names, and perhaps the largest of all, is that comprising local surnames—names derived from the originally designating the place of residence or habitat of the bearer. Such names were popular in France at an early date and were introduced into England by the Normans' many of whom were known by the title of their estates on the Continent and later by the titles of their English possessions. The surnames adopted by the nobility were mainly of this type, being used with the particles de, de la, or el (meaning "of" or "of the"). The Saxon equivalent was the word atte ("at the"), employed in such names as John atte Brook, Edmund atte

Lane, Godwin atte Brigg, and William atte Bourne. A vestige of this usage survives in the names Atwell, Atwood, and Atwater; in other cases the Norman de was substituted; and in still others such as Wood, Briggs, and Lane, the particle was dropped. The surnames of some of the Pilgrim fathers illustrate place designations: for instance, Wintthrop means "from the friendly village"; Endicott, "an end cottage"; Bradford, "at the broad ford"; and Standish, "a stony park". The suffixes "ford", "ham", "ley", and "ton", denoting locality, are of frequent occurrence in such names as Ashford, Bingham, Burley or Burleigh, and Norton.

While England enjoyed a period of comparative peace under Edward the Confessor, a fourth class of surnames arose—names derived from occupation. The earliest of these seem to have been official names, such as Bishop, Mayor, Fawcett (judge), Alderman, Reeve, Sheriff, Chamberlain, Chancellor, Chaplin, Deacon, Latimer (interpreter), Marshall, Sumner, (summoner), and Parker (park-keeper). Trade and craft names, although of the same general type, were of somewhat later origin. Currier was a dresser of skins, Webster a weaver, Wainwright a wagon builder, and Baxter a baker. Such names as Smith, Taylor, Barber, Shepherd, Carter, Mason, and Miller are self-explanatory.

Many surnames of today which seem to defy classification or explanation are corruptions of ancient forms which have become disguised almost beyond recognition. Longfellow, for instance, was originally Longueville, Longshanks was Longchamps, Troublefield was Tuberville, Wrinch was Renshaw, Diggles was Douglas, and Snooks was Sevenoaks. Such corruptions of family names, resulting from ignorance of spelling, variations in pronunciation, or merely from the preference of the bearer, tend to baffle both the genealogist and the etymologist. Shakespeare's name is to be found in some twenty-seven different forms, and the majority of English and Anglo-American surnames have, in their history, appeared in four to a dozen or more variant spellings.

In America, the melting pot of all nations, a greater variety of family names exists than anywhere else in the world. Surnames of every race and nation are represented. While the greater number are of English, Scotch, Irish, or Welsh origin, brought to this country by scions of families which had borne these names for generations prior to emigration, many others, from central and southern Europe and from the Slavic countries, where the use of surnames is generally a more recently established practice, present considerable difficulty to the student of etymology and family history.

Those Americans who bear old and honored names—who trace the history of their surnames back to sturdy emigrant ancestors, or even beyond, across the seas, and into the dim mists of antiquity—may be rightfully proud of their heritage. While the name, in its origin, may seem ingenuous, humble, surprising, or matter-of-fact, its significance today lies not in a literal interpretation of its original meaning but in the many things that have happened to it since it first came into use. In the beginning it was only a word, a convenient label to distinguish one John from his neighbor John who lived across the field. But soon it established itself as a part of the bearer's individuality; and as it passed to his children, his children's children, and their children, it became the symbol not of one man, but of a family and all that the family stood for. Handed down from generation to generation, it grew inseparably associated with the achievement, the tradition, and the glory of the family. Like the coat of arms, that vivid pictorial symbolization of the name which warrior ancestors bore in battle, the name itself, borne through every event of life and through the lives of scores of one's progenitors, became the badge of family honor—the "good name" to be proud of, to protect, and to fight for if need be. As the valiant deeds of the marching generations have clothed it in glory, it has become an institution, a family rallying cry, and the most treasured possession of those who bear it.

ORIGIN OF THE ANNUAL DEAL REUNION

The first Deal reunion was held at the home of Arthur A. Deal, in Alexander County, N. C., on July 4th, 1909. This was simply a meeting of the ten sons and only living daughter of Eli Davidson Deal, a great-grandson of William Diehl (or Deal), the emigrant.

In the summer of 1916, Bynum C. Deal (now living at Davidson, N. C.), a few of the Deals of Alexander County, and the writer, called a meeting for the purpose of making a genealogical record of the Deals. Bynum C. Deal was elected chairman. We continued with these meetings and were making some progress until the declaration of war with Germany, April 6, 1917. At this time the chairman suggested that we postpone our meetings until after the war, because we were of German descent, and therefore, our meetings might be misconstrued to mean something other than the purpose for which they were called. Accordingly, the meetings were called off, and the writer entered the service of his country for the duration of the World War. On his return in August 1919, he settled at Belwood, Cleveland County, N. C. While living here T. Patrick Deal suggested that we again call our kin together in a family reunion. It was accordingly arranged and again we met with our elder brother, Arthur A. Deal, in the summer of 1920, in Alexander County.

The next meeting was held at the home of our brother J. Marion Deal, at Catawba, N. C., on July 4th 1923. The next meeting was held in 1924 at the home of another brother, Sidney M. Deal, near Hickory, N. C. At this meeting an organization was formed and Rom C. Deal was elected president. The next meeting was held on July 4th, 1925, at Friendship Lutheran Church, in the southern part of Alexander County, N. C. At this meeting it was decided to invite all other branches of the Deal family to participate in our meetings. So at our next meeting in 1926, held at Salem Lutheran Church, in northern Alexander County, a large number of Deals were in attendance from Catawba, Fredell, Rowan, Caldwell, Lincoln, Cleveland and Burke counties. At this meeting William Deal was elected president and Herman S. Deal, historian; both of whom were descendants of Jacob Deal Sr. Much enthusiasm was in evidence for writing a genealogical record of all branches of the Deal family at this time.

Our next meeting was held in 1927, at Bethlehem School, in Alexander County. There were probably one thousand present, with Deals from Georgia, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia. Herman Deal was elected president.

The next meeting was held at Oak Hill School, in Caldwell County, in the summer of 1928. The day being rainy and bad, the attendance was small. The Deals of Caldwell asked that the next meeting be held at the same place next year. In 1929 about fifteen hundred Deals and relatives gathered at Oak Hill and had an enjoyable time. It was expected that the Deal genealogical record would be completed in a short time.

The next meeting in 1930 was held at Landis, Rowan County, N. C., with a good attendance. In 1931, at Taylorsville, N. C., there was also a good attendance. The next one was held at Catawba, N. C., in 1932. On account of inclement weather the attendance was small. At this meeting Rom C. Deal was again elected president and Chas. E. Echord, of Taylorsville, was elected historian. Because of an economic depression in the land, a meeting was not held in 1933.

In 1934, a lively meeting was held at Valdese, N. C., in Burke County. At this meeting Arthur L. Deal, of Rowan County, was elected president; Herman Deal was again elected historian; Fred Deal, of Caldwell County, treasurer and James F. Deal, of Landis, N. C., secretary. It was decided at this meeting to make Wittenburg School building, in Alexander County, the permanent place of meeting.

The meetings of 1935, 1936, 1937, and 1938, have been held at Wittenburg with the same officers that were elected at Valdese and with good attendance; but very little effort has been made to get out a genealogical history of all branches of the Deals.

For the past several years the time of the Deal reunions was on Thursday before the 3rd Sunday in August.

DEAL GENEALOGY

In attempting to make a genealogical record of the Deals, our interests will be in those of Alexander County; and more especially in the descendants of George Deal.

This work has been delayed twenty-five years with the hope of getting a man better qualified to do it, but failing, we have undertaken it. And you see the results; imperfect of course, but better than nothing. We hope, because it is imperfect, it will be an incentive to those who view it as such, to carry on and improve upon it, as this work is merely intended as a foundation on which to build family genealogical records. Had a record, even of no greater magnitude than this, been made twenty-five or fifty years ago it would be invaluable to us today, and it would have been much better, because older people that would have been of great help to us have since died. Most of the dates of births and deaths of the older generations have been taken from cemeteries, as family records were usually lost or destroyed with the passing of each family.

The Deals were chiefly settled at Frankfort, in the province of Brandenburg, Germany.

On September 9, 1733 William Diehl (or Deal) arrived at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, from Germany by way of Rotterdam, on the good ship Glasgow. The records seem to show that his father's name was Jacob, but whether he ever came to America we do not know.

William Deal removed to Doylestown in the same Colony, and thence to North Carolina and settled near Newton, then Lincoln County, but now Catawba County. He was followed in the year 1740 by his brother John Peter Deal and in 1741 by his younger brother Jacob Deal. John Peter and Jacob also removed to North Carolina and settled in Rowan County.

This William Diehl (or Deal) mentioned above, married Susannah Icard. To this union were born: William, George, Jacob, Henry, Jonas, John, Elizabeth, Susan, Peggie, Fannie and Katherine.

William, 2nd married Mary Herman and settled about a mile east of Conover, N. C. George married Mary Bowman, daughter of George Bowman, 1st, and lived in Catawba County. Jacob married Kathrine Wyke and moved to the Northern part of Alexander County; Elizabeth married Leonard Cline and remained in Catawba County; Susan married Samuel Bowman, son of George Bowman 1st, and moved to Alexander County; Peggie married John McGee, and lived in Catawba County. Of Henry, Jonas, John, Fannie and Kathrine we have no further information; later we may learn something of them.

My ancestors on my father's side came of German stock; on my mother's side of English. We are proud of these two Nationalities, but prouder am I of the fact that we believe ourselves to be one hundred per cent American. And I am also glad that the spelling of the name has been changed from Diehl to that of Deal, which also makes it American.

Since starting this work, it has been our observation that much enthusiasm has been manifested by most of the kin, but there are a few that would not give two cents for a perfect genealogical record of their people from Adam down to the present. I desire to state here, that among others that have been of great assistance to us in compiling this history, G. Wayne Rogers of Manassa, Colorado, has been a great help. He is a great grandson of William Deal 2nd, was reared in Alexander County and moved to Colorado about fifty years ago. He has made several visits back to North Carolina, and spent the most of his time while here gathering data for this book.

The first of these is the fact that the Department of Agriculture is not a single entity, but a collection of many different agencies, each with its own history and mission. The second is the fact that the Department has a long and varied history, dating back to the early days of the Republic. The third is the fact that the Department has a wide range of responsibilities, covering everything from food and nutrition to conservation and rural development. The fourth is the fact that the Department has a complex and often confusing organizational structure, with many overlapping jurisdictions and responsibilities. The fifth is the fact that the Department has a large and diverse workforce, with many different backgrounds and experiences. The sixth is the fact that the Department has a significant budget, which is often subject to political scrutiny and debate. The seventh is the fact that the Department has a high level of public visibility, particularly in the areas of food and nutrition. The eighth is the fact that the Department has a strong commitment to public service and to the well-being of the American people. The ninth is the fact that the Department has a rich and varied cultural heritage, with many different traditions and customs. The tenth is the fact that the Department has a strong sense of community and of shared purpose, with many different groups and organizations working together to achieve common goals.

The Department of Agriculture is a complex and often confusing organization, but it is also a very important one. It is responsible for many of the things that we take for granted, such as the food that we eat and the land that we live on. It is also responsible for many of the things that we care about, such as the environment and the well-being of our communities. The Department of Agriculture is a place where many different people and organizations come together to work for the good of the American people.

Kathrine Deal married Boone Dagenhart; their children were: Wilborn, Susan, George and Emma. Their children left no descendants. At this writing the entire family is dead except Susan and she never married.

Jonas Lafayette Deal married Rebecca Hefner, they had no children.

William A. Deal, son of George Deal and Sarah Rader, married Margarette Schronce. To this union two daughters were born: Harriet and Jane Deal.

According to an old deed in my possession, dated February 19, 1859, written by Franklin B. Reese, Esq., William A. Deal purchased from Christian Fox, two hundred and fifty acres of land near Friendship Lutheran Church, and erected a home on it at the foot of Barrets Mountain. He was a successful Wheelwright and farmer.

He was a soldier of the Southern Confederacy and was killed during the war between the States.

Laura Lydia Louisa Deal, daughter of George Deal, and Sarah Rader, married Elijah Cline, son of Boston Cline.

At the outbreak of the war between the States Eli Davidson Deal volunteered, at the age of 18, with the Southern Confederacy and served three years at the front, at which time he was captured by the Union Army. He remained in a northern prison camp until the end of the conflict. On his return home his views on the cause of the war were very much changed: he realized that it was rich man's war and poor man's fight. He afterwards engaged in farming.

Arthur Augustus Deal, son of Eli Davidson Deal and Celia Eveline Stafford, married Mary Ellen Icenhour, who was a daughter of Manuel Icenhour, and Hannah Bowman, who was a daughter of Powell Bowman, who was a son of Samuel Bowman and Susan Deal, who was a daughter of William Deal, the Emigrant and Susannah Icard. Date of marriage, November 8, 1894.

ARTHUR A. DEAL

The subject of this Sketch is Arthur A. Deal, a good man, an upright citizen, and faithful to his every duty.

Mr. Deal was the son of Davidson and Celia Stafford Deal, born January 17, 1868, and was the oldest of 14 children. He first saw the light of day in Wittenburg township, Alexander County, N. C., and remained within her confines up to his death. His body was lovingly laid to rest in Friendship cemetery, and there silently lies, a memorial, becoming his Fellow-Countrymen to emulate his unselfish and noble example.

He attended the common schools of Alexander County, N. C., and a Higher grade school in Taylorsville, the County-Seat. He made exceptionally good use of his time while in school and was granted upon examination by the County Superintendent and the Board of Education a first Grade Certificate, and taught school for 18 years in the county in which he was reared.

As a teacher, he was one of the highest rank in his county, and his services were eagerly sought by all who knew his merits. His up-standing character and his manliness in every affair with which he was connected, impress his pupils till today, that he was far above the ordinary citizen. They all review his memory, and dropped a tear when passing his bier.

He served as a Justice of the Peace for 20 years, was fair and impartial to his every trust, and in his Judicial decisions and rulings he was at all times upheld by the Higher Courts, and gave as nearly universal satisfaction as is possible for mortal man. During his Magistracy he married 90 couples. The children of some whom he had married in earlier years, often came and asked him to unite them in bonds of Holy Wedlock.

His most important political career occurred in 1910, when he was elected to the office of County Treasurer. He served in that capacity for three terms and in 1914 when he ran last, he had become so popular that only 35 men in his home township voted against him. Wittenburg township knew him as a meek and mild citizen, but for all that a man, and one on all occasions to be trusted.

While Treasurer he paid off the last of the Railroad Bonds, and retired from office with an indebtedness of only $1.38 against his county. Indeed, this was an Era of Free and Independent Citizenry, and though no Eutopia can be claimed, still it was a period of Peace and Good Will, through and up to that time.

He was a member of Friendship Lutheran Church and served on the Church Council as Secretary and Elder from 1887 to his death which occurred January 17, 1921. Thus, ended the life of one of Alexander's noblest citizens. Gone, but not forgotten.'

CHICAGO, ILL., MAY 15, 1900. DEAR MR. [Name],
 I have just received your letter of the 10th inst. and am glad to hear that you are interested in the study of the history of the University of Chicago.

I have been thinking of you very much lately, and wondering how you are getting on. I hope you are well and happy.

I have been very busy lately, but I have managed to find some time to write to you.
 I hope you will find this letter of interest.

GEORGE DEAL 1ST

George Deal, son of William Diehl, or Deal, 1st, and Susannah Icara, married Mary Bowman, daughter of George Bowman 1st. Both William Deal, 1st and George Bowman, 1st came from Germany about the year 1738.

George Deal's and Mary Bowman's children were: Katherine, Polly, Jemima, Anthony, David, Henry, Jonas, J. George.

Kathrine married George Herman; Polly married David Wike; Jemima did not marry; Anthony never married; David married Rosannah Bollinger; Henry married a Miss Bysinger; Jonas married Lena Frye; J. George married Elizabeth Bollinger, a sister of his brother David's wife.

Rev. A. L. Cruse states in his history of the Bowman and Frye families, that George Deal and his wife are buried at St. Pauls Lutheran church near Newton, N. C. We have made two trips to this church, in search of data, but failed to locate the graves of this couple. Many of the graves are marked only with rough and flinty stones, the inscription on others are written in German, and so weather beaten and scaled that the inscription could not be deciphered. But we do not doubt that they are buried here, as they were no doubt members of this congregation, and many Deals are buried here. However, we found the grave of Elizabeth Bollinger Deal, wife of J. George Deal.

J. George Deal, son of George Deal and Mary Bowman, married Elizabeth C. Bollinger August 21, 1828.

Rev. Thomas Gardner Thurston and daughter, Alice, drowned in Catawba river at Oxford ford February 22, 1884. Mr. Thurston found February 24, daughter found (by E. Goble) April 2, 1884.

Rev. Thomas Gardner Thurston was a Presbyterian minister. He lived at Hickory, N. C., was a teacher at Highland Academy (now Lenoir-Rhyne College). He held pastorate at Taylorsville and Wilkesboro. He was on his way to Wilkesboro to hold a series of meetings. Traveling with him in a one horse buggy, was his daughter Alice, who was intending to visit in Taylorsville. Arriving at the river, after many days of rain, it was swollen bank full. Fearing that his faithful horse could not carry himself and daughter and a heavy trunk strapped to the back of the buggy, he left his daughter on the South bank of the river and with himself and the trunk he swam the horse across. Leaving the trunk he then returned for the girl, picking her up he crossed again to the north bank. The waters being high, the current swift and the horse almost exhausted when he arrived at a steep bank, about 150 yards below the regular landing. When the horse approached the bank, it being very steep, and the horse in his exhausted condition could not get out, but fell back atop the buggy, drowning both Mr. Thurston and his daughter. The river at this point was about one hundred and fifty yards wide.

After the death of her husband, Mrs. Alice Gasking Thurston married Mr. Milton Stephenson.

Jacob Deal, Sr., son of William Deal, 1st, and Susannah Icard married Kathrine Wyke, and settled in Northern Alexander county, North Carolina.

SAMUEL BOWMAN

Samuel Bowman, son of George Bowman, the first married Susan Deal daughter of William Deal, the first. They came from Germany about the same time, thence to North Carolina. We have to disagree with the late Rev. A. L. Crouse where he says on page 76 of his Bowman History that "Susan Deal was a daughter of George Deal (Deihl) who came from Germany" also the statement on page 114 where he says that George Deal's father, Jacob Deal (Diehl) came from Germany."

We have well founded information that it was William Deal who came from Germany. that he was the father of the George Deal who married Mary Bowman, daughter of George Bowman, the first. William Deal, as has already been stated came to this country in the year 1738, and his younger brother Jacob came in 1741 but this Jacob settled in Rowan county, we believe that the father of these two brothers was Jacob; but whether he ever came to America we do not know.

Samuel Bowman and Susan Deal Bowman's children were: Jacob, Abner, Mary, George, Samuel, Paul, Henry, Jesse, Susan, Lovina, Logan and Polly. We are giving this brief record of this family because they are descendants of the Deal family on their mother's side, and from here on we are concerned only with the descendants of Paul, Jesse and Logan, as in some natural way their descendants again gets mixed up with the Deals.

Paul Bowman married Melvina Frye, a daughter of David Frye. They lived near Lower Little River between Justus Ford and Alspaugh's grain mill. There they raised their family and there they died. Their children were: John Wesley, Rhoda, Hannah, Eleanora, Harriet and Amy.

Logan Bowman, son of Paul Bowman and Melvina Frye, married Rebecca Isenhour, their children are: Mary Jane, Roxie, Minerva, Amanda, Laura, Minnie, Foy and Della.

Minnie Bowman, daughter of Logan Bowman and Rebecca Isenhour married William Leroy Cline, a son of Waitzel Cline and Martha Ann Levina Price, and who is a great great great grand son of William Deal, 1st. Minnie Bowman Cline is a great, great grand daughter of William Deal, 1st.

Manuel Icenhour who married Hannah Bowman, Logan Icenhour who married Eleanora Bowman and Rebecca Icenhour who married Logan Bowman are issue of Solomon Isenhour and Mary Magdalena Little.

Mary Ellen Icenhour married Arthur Augustus Deal, who was a great, great grand son of William Deal 1st. Mary Ellen Isenhour is a great great grand daughter of William Deal 1st.

Eleanora Bowman married Logan Icenhour, a brother of Emanuel Icenhour. Their children are: Taylor, Julius, Saloma Issiadora, Millen, Ephriam, Jacob, Cephas, Minnie, Lonnie, Charlie, Shields and Uriah.

Saloma Issiadora Icenhour married Waitzel Cline who was a great, great grand son of William Deal, 1st. She was a great, great, grand daughter of William Deal 1st.

Jesse Bowman married Sarah Hefner, a daughter of Jacob Hefner and Elizabeth Deal. Their children are: Susan, Polly, Mahalah, William Cicero, Philo, Samuel Monroe, Camila, Candace, Lawson Calloway, Adolphus Socrates, and Gilbert Pierce.

Lawson Calloway Bowman, son of Jesse Bowman and Sarah Hefner married Ruth Smith, a daughter of Silas Smith. Their children are: Emma, Lawrence, Jesse Columbus, Poly, Howard Jason, Ellen, Pearl, Ollie Jessie Columbus Bowman, son of Lawson Calloway Bowman and Ruth Smith married Cora Dell Cline, who was a great, great, great grand daughter of William Deal 1st. Jesse Columbus Bowman is a great, great grand son of William Deal, 1st.

Jason Howard Bowman, son of Lawson Calloway Bowman and Ruth Smith married Ora O. Deal, daughter of Arthur Augustus Deal, and Ellen Isenhour, who was also a great, great, great, grand daughter of William Deal, 1st. Jason Howard Bowman is a great, great grand son of William Deal, 1st.

Logan Bowman, son of Samuel Bowman and Susan Deal, married Elizabeth Starnes. Their children were: Katherine, William, Wesley, Simon Wilson, Leander, Salina and Myra

JACOB DEAL, 1st

Jacob Deal, 1st, as already stated, came from Rotterdam, Germany in the year 1741 to Doylestown, Penn. He with his brother John Peter Deal came to North Carolina and settled in Rowan county. John Peter's family was small, and he left few descendants. Jacob raised quite a large family, and his descendants are numerous. We record only a few of them. Jacob, 1st, was the father of Jacob 2nd, who married a Miss Keever, who was raised about a mile south of Hiddenite, in Alexander county, N. C. near Liberty church. Jacob Deal, 2nd, had a son named George Henry, who moved to Iredell county, and married Saloma Shive, widow of a Mr. Fink.

George Henry Deal, born April 15, 1818, died February 8, 1901, his wife, Saloma Shive, born in 1808, and died February 1884. Their children: Reuben Alexander, William Martin, Jacob Allison, Sarah Lorette, Margaret and Elizabeth. Sarah Lorette married Stephen Brawley; Elizabeth married Peter Wilborn Brawley.

Jacob Allison Deal, son of George Henry Deal and Saloma, married Mary Stewart, daughter of Abner Stewart.

HOW GEORGE HENRY DEAL LEARNED TO READ ENGLISH

As a boy he attended school, but was taught in the German language. When he was about sixty five years old, his daughter, Sarah Loretta lost her husband, Steven Brawley, she moved back to her father's home. She had an adopted son, Quincy Lee Barnhardt, he was about ten years old when he started to school, as Lee progressed in his first reader, he began to teach my grandfather to read also. George Henry was a very eager pupil and progressed nicely under the tutelage of the ten year old boy. In a short while grandfather subscribed for the Statesville Landmark, and walked to the postoffice which was two miles away, every Landmark day until he was eighty four years old. He enjoyed reading his paper very much.

Robert Clinton Deal, grandson of George Henry Deal.

Anderson Monroe Deal, son of Reuben Alexander Deal and Mary Jane Beaver, married Ida Elizabeth Troutman, daughter of Charles and Margaret Troutman.

THE NAME AND FAMILY OF STAFFORD

The name of Stafford is said to have been of local origin and derived from the capital city of the county of Stafford, England. It is also said that the name is found more frequently today in America than in England. It is found on ancient records in the various forms of Staford, Stafforde, Stafforth, Staffort, Stafferd, and Stafford, of which the last is the generally accepted form of today.

Families of this name were also to be found at early dates in the English counties of Warwick, Suffolk, Salop, London, Oxford, Derby, Buckingham, Wilts, Devon, Dorset, Durham, Hertford, Wexford, and Leicester, as well as in the counties of Down, Antrim, and Louth, in Ireland. These families were, for the most part, of the landed gentry and nobility of Great Britain.

It is claimed that the family of Stafford is descended from a Norman follower of William the Conqueror, one Robert de Tonei, Governor of the Castle of Stafford in the eleventh century, whose descendants used the surname of de Stafford. Robert de Tonei was the great-grandfather of Robert de Stafford, who died about the year 1189, leaving an only child named Milicent, who married Hervey Bagot and had issue of a son named Hervey, who took his mother's surname.

Edmund de Stafford, great grandson of the last mentioned Hervey de Stafford, was created first Lord Stafford in the latter part of the thirteenth century and married Maude de Comville, who gave him, among others, Ralph and Sir Richard, of whom the last was the ancestor of the Barons Stafford of Clifton and the first continued the elder line and was created Earl of Stafford in 1351.

Ralph Stafford, Earl of Stafford married Margaret, the only daughter and heiress of Hugh Audley, Earl of Gloucester and grandson of King Edward the First of England, and is said to have had issue by her of, among other children, a daughter Margaret, who married her cousin Sir John Stafford and had a son Ralph, who was the Lord Steward of the House to King Edward the Third and married Matilda Hastang, by whom he had Sir Humphrey, who was the father of another Sir Humphrey, who married Eleanor Aylesbury and had Sir Humphrey, who married Kathrine Fray and died in 1486, leaving a son also named Sir Humphrey, who married Margaret Fogge and had Sir William, who married as his second wife a distant cousin Dorothy Stafford, whose ancestry will be traced on the following pages.

Edmond, fifth Earl of Stafford, a direct descendant of the before mentioned Ralph Stafford of the fourteenth century, was married in the latter part of that century to the Lady Anne Plantagenet, granddaughter of King Edward the Third of England, and had issue by her of Humphrey Stafford, who was the first of the line to bear the title of Duke of Buckingham and who married Anne Neville, daughter of the first Earl of Westmoreland. They were the parents of another Humphrey, Earl of Stafford, who married Margaret Beaufort, daughter of the Duke of Somerset, and had Henry, who was the father of Edward, who married Eleanor Percy, daughter of the Earl of Northumberland, and had issue by her of Henry, who was the father of the before mentioned Dorothy Stafford, who married Sir William Stafford in the latter sixteenth century.

Another early line of the family was that of the county of Wexford, which is said to have been represented as early as the year 1335 by one Hamon de Stafford, who was the ancestor of George and John Stafford of the time of King Edward the Fourth, of whom the last had a son named Nicholas, who also had a son named Nicholas, who was the father of John Stafford, High Sheriff of Wexford in 1640.

It is not definitely known from which of the many illustrious lines of the family in England the first emigrants of the name to America were descended, but it is generally believed that all the families of the name are of common ancestry of a remote period.

Probably the first of the name in America was William Stafford, who emigrated to Virginia about 1622 and made his home at Elizabeth City in 1624. About 1640 he married Frances Mason and had issue by her of, among others, a son named William, who was the father of several sons, two of whom, William and John, made their homes in South Carolina, while the others remained in Virginia.

Another early settler of this name was Thomas Stafford, who is said to have come to Plymouth, Mass., in about 1626 and later removed to Newport or Portsmouth, R. I., whence he removed at a still later date to New London and Warwick, Conn. By his wife Elizabeth he is said to have been the father of Hannah, Sarah, Deborah, Thomas, Samuel, and Joseph, and possibly of others as well.

The descendants of these various branches of the family in America have spread to practically every State of the Union and have aided as much in the growth of the country as their ancestors aided in the founding of the nation. They have been known for their ambition, integrity, piety, moral and physical strength, fortitude, and courage.

Among those of the name who fought as officers in the War of the Revolution were Ensign Daniel of Rhode Island, Captain Joab of New York, Adjutant John of Massachusetts, and one Colonel Stafford, whose Christian name and place of residence are not known.

Ralph, John, William, Humphrey, Edmund or Edmond, Nicholas, Thomas, and Joseph are some of the Christian names most highly favored by the Stafford family or its male members.

One of the most ancient and frequently recurrent of the many coats-of-arms of the family is described as follows:

Arms—"Or, a chevron gules."

Crest—"Out of a ducal cornet gules a swan's head erect between two wings elevated argent."

(Arms taken from Burke's General Armory", 1884)

THE FIRST STAFFORD HOME COMING

Descendants of Alford M. Stafford and Martha Elizabeth Foster, met the 5th Sunday, May 29, 1938 in what is expected to be an annual get together of the Stafford Clan at the old home place of Isaac Avery Stafford, near Oxford dam in Alexander county, North Carolina. There was no set program for the occasion, but some history was read of the landing of William Stafford from England in the year 1622 and of his descendants down to the present generation.

Much enthusiasm was in evidence and numerous persons turned in their family records for the Stafford genealogical record.

There were people of the sixth, seventh and eighth generations present. An organization, known as the Stafford Clan was formed with the following officers: Perry Franklin Stafford, president Taylorsville, N. C. Rt. 1; Oscar Leroy Icenhour, secretary-treasurer, Taylorsville, N. C. Rt. 1; Rom C. Deal, historian, Stony Point, N. C.

Executive Committee:

Mr. George Washington Stafford, Mrs. Martha Adaline Lail, Mr. Jacob Luther Stafford, Mr. Alonzo Lafayette Frye, all of Taylorsville, N.
